

5 JUNE MEDIA ADVISORY
DCJ Press Conference

Unveiling the Web of Machination that Derail Real Climate Agenda
Calling the bluff: Climate escape is not climate action

Nearly a decade ago, the governments of the world came together to sign the Paris Agreement, a legally binding international treaty on climate change. In theory, this treaty outlined a next step on the path for the world and for us to course correct and take urgent measures to protect the planet. Every year we see rich countries led by the US, that are historically responsible for this climate crisis come to climate negotiations portraying themselves as climate champions yet not delivering on their promises and failing to do their fair share. They have been dangerously distracting from real climate action by proffering more loans and carbon markets as climate finance, and pushing for tactics that allow them to continue their emissions unfettered, all while expanding fossil fuels unhindered.

Join us as members of the Global Campaign to Demand Climate Justice spotlight tactics rich countries are using to treat the climate crisis like a game of poker, undermining the urgent change that needed to justly transition. Climate justice can only be delivered through system change that centers the Global South experience and demands.

When: Tuesday 5 June | 12.30-13.00 (Bonn, UTC+2)

Where: Nairobi 4, webcast here

Speakers:

- Jax Bongon, IBON International
- Pang Delgra, Asian Peoples Movement on Debt and Development
- Mariana Paoli, Christian Aid
- Rachel Rose Jackson, Corporate Accountability

Moderator:

- Rachitaa Gupta, Global Campaign to Demand Climate Justice

Contact us Neha Gupta: neha.gupta52@gmail.com, Signal/WhatsApp: +91 9810078055